2025 ATHENS
FOREIGN LANGUAGES FORUM
PROGRAMME

Welcome to FL Forum 2025

Dear colleagues,

It is with great joy that we welcome you to the Foreign Languages Forum 2025.

This forum is a celebration of community, purpose, and transformation in language education. Whether you are here to explore new methodologies, reconnect with peers, or simply to be inspired, we are proud to offer a space that invites meaningful conversations and practical insights.

This year's theme is "Building Legacy Through Innovation." From plenary sessions that challenge us to rethink how we teach Generation Alpha, to panel discussions on how educators become edupreneurs, today is designed to provoke thought and action.

You'll also meet contributors from ELT NEWS, explore cutting-edge materials at the Book Exhibition, and engage in networking that we hope leads to lasting collaborations.

Education moves forward when educators move together. Thank you for being part of this shared journey.

Warm regards.

AI in the Classroom-Friend or Foe?

This presentation explores the ethical integration of AI in English education, highlighting both opportunities and risks. It addresses concerns around academic integrity, data privacy, algorithmic bias, misinformation, and equity. Teachers are encouraged to use AI as an assistant—not a replacement—while promoting transparency, fairness, and responsible use. Practical strategies are offered for designing assessments that resist plagiarism and support personalized learning. Emphasis is placed on developing AI literacy, creating school-wide ethics policies, and fostering critical thinking. Ultimately, the talk empowers educators to harness AI thoughtfully, preserving the human core of teaching while preparing students for a tech-driven world.

Lowering the Affective Filter: The Key to Learning

Creating a classroom where students feel emotionally safe is essential for effective learning. But do we actually succeed in building emotionally supportive classrooms?

This interactive session explores the concept of the affective filter and how stress, anxiety, and lack of connection can block learning. We will reflect on our teaching practices and discuss practical strategies to lower the affective filter and build supportive environments where all learners can thrive emotionally and academically.

How Gen Alpha learns and how you should teach it: the intergenerational approach

Welcoming your junior learners this September, you're not just teaching children – you're teaching Generation Alpha. Their siblings are Gen Z, their parents Millennials (or Gen X like your coursebook authors!). How do you connect across these generational layers? What do these children need to know, and how can we prepare them for 2050, when they'll be just 32?

This session explores how Homo Docens – the teaching human – adapts through intergenerational learning. Join us to discover strategies that bridge the gap and shape relevant, future-ready education.

PANEL DISCUSSION

“Building a Legacy: Developing a Strong School Brand Name”

Building a foreign language school's brand name involves more than just coming up with a catchy name—it's about establishing a strong, clear identity that resonates with your target audience and communicates your values, strengths, and unique offerings.

This panel brings together three distinct yet interconnected perspectives to explore how education is transforming in the face of new challenges and opportunities.

From the personal journey of transitioning from teacher to edupreneur, to the multiple roles a school owner is called upon to play to reinforcing a school's brand identity, each session offers a unique lens on the educational experience.

Moderator: George Drivas, Teacher Trainer & Author

In this powerful panel, three school owners share their personal journeys from classroom to leadership, offering insights into how to build and sustain a meaningful educational brand.

Panelists:

Nikos Dellas – From Teacher to Entrepreneur

A personal story of growth and mindset shift in building Chronos School, Athens.

Η Ταξινομία του Bloom ως Εργαλείο Ενίσχυσης της Διδασκαλίας σε Παιδιά με Δυσλεξία κι άλλες Μαθησιακές Δυσκολίες.

Η διαφοροποίηση της διδασκαλίας αποτελεί θεμέλιο για την ουσιαστική υποστήριξη μαθητών με ειδικές ανάγκες. Η Ταξινομία του Bloom, ως αναγνωρισμένο παιδαγωγικό εργαλείο ιεράρχησης γνωστικών στόχων, προσφέρει ευέλικτο πλαίσιο σχεδιασμού δραστηριοτήτων που ανταποκρίνονται στις μαθησιακές ιδιαιτερότητες.

Η παρουσίαση εστιάζει στη δυναμική αξιοποίηση των έξι επιπέδων της Ταξινομίας, με κατάλληλα παραδείγματα και εφαρμογές. Αναλύεται πώς η σταδιακή μετάβαση από απλές σε σύνθετες γνωστικές δεξιότητες ενισχύει τη μνήμη εργασίας, δομεί τη σκέψη, ενδυναμώνει τη γλωσσική κατάκτηση και ενθαρρύνει τη μαθησιακή αυτονομία, ιδιαίτερα σε δυσλεξικούς μαθητές.

Design the Test? Why Not! Flipping Language Assessment for Engagement and Inclusion

What if students helped design their own language exams? This session introduces a flipped assessment model where learners co-create tasks, fostering engagement, reflection, and ownership. Grounded in Universal Design for Learning, this approach supports diverse learning needs and promotes inclusion. Real examples, practical strategies, and a hands-on design challenge will inspire educators to rethink exams not as tests of control, but as collaborative opportunities for meaningful language use and student empowerment.
